Traffic Deaths Hit New Record

Motoring Americans, lured to the nation's highways for the summer's last big holiday, died in record numbers Monday night.

As the three-day, 78-hour Labor Day weekend approached its close, a total of 326 persons had perished in traffic, passing the record traffic toll of 501 for the holiday set last year.

Counting of traffic fatalities runs from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight (local time) Monday night.

The four-day Fourth of July holiday this year claimed a record 557 for that period. The record traffic toll for any holiday was 706 in a four-day Christmas period in 1956.

The National Safety Council earlier changed its pre-holiday prediction of 430 to 520 to at least 539 and said the total figure could go as high as high as 585.

12 Killed On State Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sixteen persons — 12 of them highway victims — died accidentally in Pennsylvania over the three-day Labor Day weekend. There were two drownings and two other deaths in other types of accidents.

The fatality count dropped off from last year's Labor Day holiday when 24 persons died in all types of mishaps. In addition, this year's Labor Day total was considerably less than in comparable holiday periods of this year.

In the long July Fourth holiday period, 46 died in traffic accidents and 63 from all types of accidents — the worst holiday toll in Pennsylvania's history.

Rocky Asks Fast Tax Reduction

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, long considered a potential Republican presidential nominee, called Monday for an immediate tax cut combined with action to stop the dollar drain abroad.

In a Labor Day message sharply critical of Kennedy administration fiscal policies, the New York governor asserted:

"Failure of the President to redeem his often-repeated 1960 campaign pledge to 'get this country moving again' economically has limited investment opportunities here and this contributed to the out-flow of private capital."

Rockefeller recommended cutting the corporation tax rate from 52 to 47 per cent and cutting personal income taxes by $7.5 billion across the board, effective upon enactment.

Miss Hunter Wed To White Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Charlaine Hunter, the Negro girl who was graduated from the University of Georgia in June and was the first of her race at the university, disclosed Monday she is married to a white Georgian.

She said she and Walter Stovall, of Douglas, Ga., were married secretly last spring while both were attending the university and they are expecting a baby in December.

Stovall said they were married in the North but declined to give the exact time or place.

Mrs. Stovall, 21, is employed as an editorial assistant at the New Yorker magazine.

Stovall, 25, has another year of college, after time out for Army service. He said he might continue his education here and work part-time to support his family.

The couple announced their marriage when Stovall came here this weekend, after a summer of work as a reporter for the Atlanta Journal.

Queen Alexandra Near Death

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Queen Alexandra, 42, of Yugoslavia, the unhappy princess of Greece who married a king in exile, was feared near death Monday night.

She was still unconscious and in grave condition 24 hours after being rushed to a general hospital from the Venice island villa of her mother, Princess Aspasia of Greece, where police said she had taken 16 sleeping pills.

Syria And Iraq Form Union

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria and Iraq announced Monday they have decided to form an economic union which will be open for "all other revolutionary Arab governments" to join.

The two countries said in a communiqué that they will set up joint army commissions for military cooperation.

Iraq said Aug. 21 that it was placing its armed forces under Syrian command because of Syria's border crisis with Israel.

Embassy Protects Buddhist

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The military governor of Saigon demanded Monday that the U.S. Embassy surrender a chief Buddhist monk who took refuge there from the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

With relations between the United States and Diem's anti-Communist government growing colder, the English-language Times of Viet Nam claimed that agents of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency here were plotting a coup to topple the government. The U.S. Embassy branded the newspaper's story as nonsense. The paper is published by an American, but sponsored by the South Vietnamese government.

The military governor, Gen. Thon That Dinh, told a news conference that he had asked the Foreign Ministry to demand the return of Thich Tri Quang, one of three monks who received asylum in the embassy Sunday.

Supports Action

In Washington, State Department officials supported the U.S. Embassy action in granting asylum to the monks. They said the embassy reported that Tri Quang might be killed if he were not admitted. The report said the two other monks fled they were in similar peril.

Tri Quang, is one of the chief proponents of Diem, and his presence on what is technically U.S. soil seemed likely to worsen U.S.-South Vietnamese relations.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge took another stroll with his wife around central Saigon — without guards — and inspected the fortifications around Diem palace.

Gen. Dinh, while telling newsmen of his demand that the U.S. Embassy surrender the monks, also publicly pledged loyalty to Diem and the president's brother and adviser Ngo Dinh Nhu.

Nhu's domineering role in the government has been a source of concern to the United States.

The Times of Viet Nam charged that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency was financing a coup to overthrow Diem.

The spokesman said the coup was originally planned for Aug. 28 but was postponed because the Vietnamese government got wind of it.

The article also said the CIA had set aside $10 million and $24 million to finance its "plot" using money from "a budget which the U.S. Congress has no authority to audit."

The Times of Viet Nam is published by Gene Gregory.

It said "the plotters" planned to send Nhu, Diem's top political advisor, and his wife into exile "because they know well if they are murdered it would provoke a bloodbath of reprisals."

The article said CIA agents tried to bribe the police, army, labor, civil servants and other organizations into supporting their coup.

Editor's Note — Across the nation, young Americans returning to school this week and next will be faced with teachers who are prepared to vigorously press for higher salaries, better working conditions and more say in school administration. Here, in the first of three special articles, is a report backgrounding the unrest among U.S. teachers.

By G. K. HODENFIELD

WASHINGTON (AP) — American teachers are on the warpath.

They want higher salaries, better working conditions, and a bigger say in what goes on in the schools.

For the first time they are prepared to close schools to enforce these demands.

Two cases, almost a continent apart, illustrate the teachers' new militancy.

Rescuers Lose Hope For Bova

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — The state, virtually abandoning all hope of finding Lou Bova alive in a caved-in mine, planned Monday to explore three different underground routes to reach the body.

State Mines Secretary H. Beechard Charnbury said it would take a minimum of 120 days to reach Bova, regardless of the method used.

Bova was trapped Aug. 13 at the nearby Shepperton mine with David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28. After 14 days' imprisonment, Fellin and Throne were rescued through an 18-inch wide shaft drilled to the 300-foot cavern where they had lived nearly six days with just mouthfuls of sub-surface water.

Charnbury said efforts to find Bova in a similar shaft — 15 of various sizes were drilled — have proved fruitless.

Fellin and Throne, who will be discharged from Hazleton State General Hospital Tuesday morning, said through a spokesman they were "grieved" about the failure to find our "buddy."

The spokesman said the two men added, however, "that every possible method was made to try to reach him."

Even the Bova family appeared resigned to the loss of the miner, 54, trapped along with David Fellin and Henry Throne for a subterranean slide Aug. 13. Fellin and Throne were rescued 14 days later.

Dr. H. B. Charnbury, state secretary of mines, said virtually all hope of rescuing Bova was gone. Following a meeting with officials and experts in charge of the operation, Charnbury said he would not send another volunteer into a new escape shaft drilled Sunday night.

"The cavity is unsafe, filled with fresh rock, 'fresh' coal and timber," he said after viewing a telecast by a camera lowered more than 300 feet into a chamber where Bova was believed to be.

"It's All Over"

Charnbury's deputy, Gordon Smith, was even more definite. "It's all over as far as a rescue is concerned," he said.

Smith said he talked with the trapped man's brother, Daniel, and "gave it to him straight."

Smith said the brother took it rather well.

Another brother, Tony, said he did not wish anyone to "risk his life in the hole."

Still another brother, Joseph, commented, "I guess they know what they're doing. I don't know anything about the mines. But I'll ask them to keep making some effort, because even if Louis is dead we want the body."

Mrs. Bova has been hospitalized for a week. Relatives are caring for the couple's eight month-old son.

new jobs "unless the department requesting them is able to abolish unnecessary positions."

Job Reduction

He said the state payroll directly under the governor's control has been reduced from 80,153 employees last Jan. 1 to 77,258 on July 31.

The total number of state employees, including those working for the legislature and departments and agencies not under the governor's jurisdiction, dropped from 82,032 last January to 79,276 on July 31.

A check of the payroll records and other sources indicates that, with few exceptions, the policy has been followed closely and probably will continue with only slight modifications.

Brackbill said two bureaus chiefs and three supervisors, all in the Revenue Department, were given substantial pay increases.

The budget secretary's salary was increased Aug. 15 from $16,700 to $19,500 yearly — the latter amount being the same as paid to Brackbill's Democratic predecessor, David Baldwin.

Aside from that, Brackbill says he has "stayed religiously" with the policy limits laid down by the governor eight and a half months ago.

Records of 15 appointments to important posts, including deputy secretaries, bureau chiefs and other high level jobs, show that eight of the new jobholders were paid the same as their predecessors, four were paid more and three were paid less.

Brackbill says he is firmly holding out against creation of

President Says Aid Will Continue

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy said Monday the South Viet Nam government "has gotten out of touch with the people" and lacked the "popular support" without which it cannot win its war against the Communists.

Kennedy declared, in a key statement of American policy: "I don't think that unless a greater effort is made by the government to win popular support that the war can be won out there."

The chief executive said, at the same time, that it would be "a great mistake" for the United States to end military assistance to South Vietnam.

"I don't agree with those who say we should withdraw," he said.

"That would be a great mistake," he said, and repeated the phrase for emphasis.

One of those abroad who have hinted they would favor an American withdrawal is French President Charles de Gaulle, who has decried "foreign influence" in South Vietnam, once a French colony.

DeGaulle Not There

Regarding De Gaulle's statement Kennedy asserted:

"I guess it was an expression of his general view but he doesn't have any forces there or any program of economic assistance."

He said that while De Gaulle's statement was welcomed, the United States is prepared to continue assistance to the government of Ngo Dinh Diem. But he added that, "in my opinion, in the last two months, the government (of Diem) has gotten out of touch with the people."

Kennedy expressed confidence that there is time for the South Vietnamese government to win the popular support he regards as essential.

"With changes in policy and perhaps with personnel, I think it can," he said. "If it doesn't make those changes, I would think that the chances of winning it (the war with Communist guerrillas) would not be very good."

Kennedy went on to state that what he termed "the repressions" against South Viet Nam's Buddhists "were very uneven."

"We don't think this is the way to win," he said, adding:

"It is my hope that this will become increasingly obvious to the government (Viet Nam's) that they will take steps to try to bring back popular support for

It was carnival time as thousands made their way on the short midway of Weona Park.

Feats wheel rides, tilt-a-whirls, circling and a peak at a 4,700-pound hippopotamus — billed as a native of Africa's River Nile — attracted both young and old.

The parade, which was held in the afternoon, was led by the Lookout Fire Co. and Pen Argyl.

Approximately 3,000 residents of the small, State Belt town lined the streets to watch a two-hour long parade featuring drum corps, fire companies and teenage groups in the annual Labor Day march.

East Stroudsburg was represented by the Keystone Grenadiers, an affiliate of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

The Lambert Cadets, sponsored by Thomas P. Lambert Post 2340, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Stroudsburg, also marched in the colorful and horn-blowing exhibition.

The annual fireman's competition was held in the afternoon, was led by the Lookout Fire Co. and Pen Argyl.

Included in the line of march were contingents from Catawissa, Hellertown, Nazareth, Wind Gap, Portland, Bangor, Kunkletown, Roseto, Belvidere, N. J., and units from outlying districts at the lower end of Pennsylvania and parts of New Jersey.

Gamblers Pay Protection

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thomas J. Gibbons, former police commissioner, says that gamblers in Philadelphia pay policemen hundreds of thousands of dollars a year for protection. "It was that way when I was commissioner (1952-1960) and it's that way now."

Gibbons, now community relations director for the Curtis Publishing Co., spoke his mind in an interview with the Philadelphia Bulletin.

He said arrests "don't make a dent" in what he called a $100-million-a-year gambling business in the metropolitan area.

The Bulletin quoted Gibbons as saying that "the average policeman doesn't think numbers and horse bets are a crime," and that public tolerance of gambling has spread to the policemen's way of looking at it.

Unemployment Rolls Decline

HARRISBURG (AP) — Unemployment in Pennsylvania declined by 23,000 workers last month, the bureau of employment security reported Friday.

The number of jobless workers in mid-August was 301,000 — the lowest total for the month since 1957.

The bureau attributed the decline to the recall of workers following vacation shutdowns in a number of industries, particularly apparel.

Warden Shoots Serviceman

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — A Pennsylvania deputy game warden wounded a serviceman who reportedly barged into the deputy's home and threatened his family, state police said.

Thomas Coffman, 22, of Rixford, McKean County was reported in critical condition at Bradford Hospital with a bullet wound of the chest.

Coffman, a submariner, was on leave, police said. According to police, Ward Wood, a state deputy game warden, told them Coffman charged into his home Sunday at Port Allegany, R. D., about 20 miles east of Bradford.

Wood said Coffman, a stranger, entered for no apparent reason. He said the serviceman threatened him and his children with a knife. Police said Wood then shot Coffman.

Birth Rate On Downgrade In County

Record Harrisburg Bureau —

HARRISBURG — Resident births in Monroe County were on the decline last year — to the tune of some 72 less than the 819 recorded during 1961, the State Department of Health said today in a just completed statistical recap of the 12-month period.

Under the circumstances, said the department, the birth rate for the county now stands at 18.5 per 1,000 population.

An interesting breakdown of the 771 resident live births recorded for the county during the past year shows that in 211 cases the birth was a "first" for the family; in 183 cases it presented a second child and in 150 cases a third child. Births during the year increased the number of four-child families in the county by 96, five-child families by 47, six-child families by 23, seven-child families by 10—and over seven, by 16.

Looking at it another way, 29.4 per cent of all the births in the county during the year were "family firsts"; 24.7 per cent represented the second child in the family; 20.2 per cent, the third child; 11.8 per cent, the fourth child; 5.9 per cent, the fifth child; 3.9 per cent, the sixth child; 1.8 per cent, the seventh child—and 2.3 per cent, over seven.

Quarry Operation Goes On In Search For Diver's Body

WIND GAP — Pumping at the Penn-Bango quarry in Wind Gap continued over the Labor Day weekend. Diving came to a halt Saturday but is expected to resume again today at 7 a.m. Harry Bosold, Civil Defense director from Pen Argyl, said Sunday night.

Bosold, who is assisting Chief of Wind Gap Police Leo Reinhart, continued, "Divers from the Telford Diving Unit from Telford, Pa., reported Saturday that they sighted many ledges and that diving and searching the underwater ledges will be hazardous but that they have vowed to return and dive until the body is located and recovered, or until the water is too shallow to dive in."

Aiding at the scene in the pumping, traffic and crowd control are CD members from units in Bangor, Pen Argyl, Wind Gap, Plainfield Twp., Bushkill Twp., and Lower Mt. Bethel Twp.

Bosold said there was one CD unit in the area from Union City, N.J. This unit was on the site for 48 hours and then returned to its home base in Union City.

Paul Daubenspeck, deputy fish warden in Lehigh County, has been on the scene since last Tuesday and has been helping in the supervision of crowd control on the shoreline of the quarry.

He said, "I have been on vacation but I have been spending about 11 hours a day here since I arrived on the scene. My only thought is to take all measures so that no one else falls in the quarry and drowns."

The penalty for any of these violations is $25, and failure to pay costs, ten days imprisonment.

Violators of these laws are also liable to suspension of their driver's license for periods of one, two or three months.

Register Quickly

Monroe, Pike, Northampton and Carbon County residents have a very short time in which to register to vote in the Nov. 5 municipal elections because of the special Congressional election July 30.

Republican Gov. William Scranton apparently picked the mid-summer date in hopes that it would help the Republican candidate. And it may have helped Robert G. Bartlett, although he lost the race by 6,500 votes to Fred B. Rooney.

But it hasn't helped the citizens of the four-county district who now would like to register for the next regular election this fall.

State election law forbids registration until 30 days after a special election and not after Sept. 16, according to Leo Achterman, Monroe County solicitor.

High Speed Limit Vetoed

Although speed itself is not the major cause of highway accidents, it is one of the important contributing causes.

Automobile speed controls the distance in which a car can stop to avoid a collision and it has a direct effect on the degree of damage done to car and passengers once a collision takes place.

For these reasons, Gov. Scranton's veto of the higher state highway speed limits last Friday should be commended by all who care about their safety on Pennsylvania highways.

The proposed bill would have:

1. Raised from 50 to 60 miles per hour the speed limit for passenger cars on roads 20 feet or more in width.

2. Raised from 35 to 50 miles per hour the speed limit for passenger cars on roads less than 20 feet in width.

3. Raised from 50 to 55 miles per hour the legal speed for trucks on federal interstate highways or any controlled-access highways in the state.

The second proposal is the most dangerous. The others are less immediately dangerous but are equally unnecessary speed increases.

We thank the governor for not yielding to pressure on this important issue.

Race Hate In Pennsylvania

Not all ugly incidents of racial hate and discrimination are happening in the deep South.

About 1,000 men, women, teenagers and children in an all-white suburban Philadelphia neighborhood threw rocks, eggs and bottles at a house occupied Friday by a young Negro and his wife—the first Negroes to move into the housing development.

This disgusting behavior was made more shocking by the enthusiastic participation of teenagers and children copying the bad example set by their elders.

George Dixon

Good Week For JFK

Here to dress up the show. They didn't scrap or bite at anyone, even strange marchers who took liberties with them. If Bull Connors had used horses instead of dogs the world would have a different picture of Birmingham.

About 350 of our city firemen acted as policemen, but not one of them used a hose, although one, for one, could have used a cool spraying. It was very hot. But nowhere among that incredible 210,000 did a temper flare to match the temperature.

That day, and that week, gave President Kennedy something wonderful to look upon for as long as he lives. A horseplayer going to the $2 window to cash in a 210,000 to 1 ticket couldn't have felt more singled out by fortune. When you think of all the things that could have happened: just one vicious drunk yelling nasty epithets; just one planted provocateur scrawling on any of the mobile toilets "For Whites Only" . . . !

No matter what reversals may be in store for him in the years ahead, the President can always use his woe by looking back upon last week. He can also take gratification from the fact that he set the tone. Before the marchers came here he cautioned them not to be over-optimistic about what the demonstration would accomplish, but he didn't discourage them either.

Many of the nation's leaders with whom I discussed his tone-setting told me he set the tone exactly right.

The President set the tone in

Letters To The Editor

Contributions Urged For Salvation Army

Editor, The Daily Record:

I think it would be a wonderful idea for everyone to send a contribution to the Salvation Army located at 78 South Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

Not only the people of East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg, but people all over the nation.

The work these people do is truly wonderful. They do not expect a reward for their services but they must have money, to carry on the wonderful work they are doing.

I am putting my contribution in an envelope to send to them. It isn't much but it is all I can afford. I hope everyone will contribute to these wonderful people.

The 'Perfect 36' Versus The 1964 Political Campaign

The Pennsylvania Story

Transition On Capitol Hill

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — Labor Day week end has come and gone; Pennsylvania's 1963 Legislature has come and gone, and for the most part Pennsylvania's school kids have come and gone — back to school.

Governor Scranton has finished signing and vetoing bills; some belated vacations on the part of Capitol Hill workers who "sat out" the legislative grind are under way; political head-hunters and chieftains throughout the state are whetting their knives for the fall campaign.

The moppet brigade as usual turned out in full battle gear and full strength over the Labor Day week end to feed the squirrels in Capitol Park — squirrels so fat they almost look like flying groundhogs.

Today the transition takes place. Capitol Hill settles down to its semi-snooty fall and winter routine. It is a lightning contrast to last Friday, the last "official" working day for the Capitol Hill populace before the Labor Day week end exodus.

Last month there was a 1963 Legislature in session — the "elected representatives" of the people of Pennsylvania.

Today it has ceased to exist. Pennsylvanians still have their elected representatives — in name — but they are in effect armless and legless. They are legislative paraplegics.

They have no power — anymore. They have no authority. They have literally ceased to exist for the remainder of this year — insofar as their ability to do anything "on their own initiative" is concerned.

They killed themselves, per se, when they adjourned finally a few weeks ago.

They cannot call themselves back to life until next January when they constitutionally come into being once again. Meanwhile insofar as any initiative is concerned on the part of legislators — the representatives of the people" — they are gone back to school.

Governor Scranton has finished signing and vetoing bills; some belated vacations on the part of Capitol Hill workers who "sat out" the legislative grind are under way; political head-hunters and chieftains throughout the state are whetting their knives for the fall campaign.

The moppet brigade as usual turned out in full battle gear and full strength over the Labor Day week end to feed the squirrels in Capitol Park — squirrels so fat they almost look like flying groundhogs.

Today the transition takes place. Capitol Hill settles down to its semi-snooty fall and winter routine. It is a lightning contrast to last Friday, the last "official" working day for the Capitol Hill populace before the Labor Day week end exodus.

Last month there was a 1963 Legislature in session — the "elected representatives" of the people of Pennsylvania.

Today it has ceased to exist. Pennsylvanians still have their elected representatives — in name — but they are in effect armless and legless. They are legislative paraplegics.

They have no power — anymore. They have no authority. They have literally ceased to exist for the remainder of this year — insofar as their ability to do anything "on their own initiative" is concerned.

They killed themselves, per se, when they adjourned finally a few weeks ago.

They cannot call themselves back to life until next January when they constitutionally come into being once again. Meanwhile insofar as any initiative is concerned on the part of legislators — the representatives of the people" — they are gone back to school.

Governor Scranton has finished signing and vetoing bills; some belated vacations on the part of Capitol Hill workers who "sat out" the legislative grind are under way; political head-hunters and chieftains throughout the state are whetting their knives for the fall campaign.

Dishwasher Makes Party A Snap

Having a gang of friends come to your house for a gala dinner party sounds like a lot of fun but more than one homemaker has shuddered at the thought.

It's not necessarily a faint heart that makes them wince, either. The sight of stacks of dirty dishes, glasses, silverware, pots, pans and serving trays can make cooks of us all.

An automatic dishwasher installed in the home, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, can make the hostess a guest at her own party.

But the automatic dishwasher is indispensable for modern daily living as well. With it, the homemaker immediately has an extra hour or more every day to spend with the children, with friends or just relaxing.

STORE-bought doughnuts usually taste best when they are reheated before serving.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

It is not usually considered a compliment when somebody tells you look like "the last rose of summer," which is generally considered to be a pretty bedraggled affair. In reality, it's usually a pretty perfect specimen, even though its leaves may be sort of aphid-gnawed. Certainly the poet who wrote of it thought so.

And the only imperfection I could detect about the last weekend of summer was that it was the last. No matter what the calendar says summer ends on Sept. 21; for all practical purposes, it is dead as of right now. As a matter of fact, even more than New Year's Eve, Labor Day marks the beginning of a new year for Americans.

Now, if ever, is the time we should be making resolutions: to study harder and not let the homework assignments and term papers pile up; to get out of the routine of letting each day's work take care of itself and do something challenging that would make our work more interesting to ourselves; to establish more of a routine in household chores. (or reverse that if you're a housewife).

However, before we go all real and earnest, it's pleasant to savor the last of the holidays. The weather was well-nigh perfect at the river: Hot in the sunshine with an underlying chill as exciting as a baked Alaska. The moon came up with a glory that heralded by a halo on the mountain and then spread a shimmering path across the water.

It was warm enough for swimming by day, cool enough to make a fireplace a comfort by night. The air was so clear that each tree not only stood out by itself, but each leaf was a separate entity. From Main St. or the Fifth St. bridge the orange framework of the new wing of the hospital stood out stark and clear against the sky-line.

The bride is a graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing, Philadelphia. She spent the past year studying at the University of Pennsylvania and will continue her education at the Harrisburg Center for Higher Education. The bridegroom was a member of the Class of '61 at Princeton University. He is now entering his second year at the Dickinson School of Law, Carlisle.

Prenuptial parties were given by Mrs. John Oliver, held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Couch, and by Mrs. William Ruggiero.

The bridegroom's parents were the parents for the 30 guests who attended the rehearsal dinner at DeNardo's.

Wed 68 Years, Couple Wins Clan Award

Gilbert — Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hendrickson, who have been married for 68 years, were the oldest family represented at the 32nd annual Hawk reunion held yesterday at the West End Fairgrounds. Mr. Hendrickson, 92, and his wife, 87, drove to the reunion from Wetherby.

Charles Cherry of Lexington Park, Md., at 13 months had come the longest distance; Bruce Alan Hawk, 13 months, was the youngest, and the oldest person bearing the Hawk name was Charles Hawk of Leighton.

Officers were re-elected to be in charge of the 1964 reunion to be held at 2 p.m. next Labor day.

Others present were Mrs. Bert Transue, Mount Bethel RD; Mrs. O. K. Sorenson of Johnsonville, Mrs. Raymond Transue, Mrs. Frank Gardner, Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter, and Mrs. Harry Morgan.

The club will be the guests of Mrs. Frank Gardner at her home on Division St. this Thursday.

In PMBL Playoffs

West End, S-burg Win In Openers

The two top teams in the Pocono Mountain Baseball League — West End and Stroudsburg — copped opening-round victories Sunday in the start of the elimination playoffs as the two headed for a championship meeting.

West End, the defending champs and first-place finisher of the circuit this season, knocked over Bushkill, 7-1. Stroudsburg captured a 6-3 decision over Reeder's.

In the meantime, the Gilbert in the other playoff tilt of the best 2-of-3 series.

John Chureta, West End's brilliant hurler, lost a bid for a no-hitter in the ninth inning when Bushkill's Denny Patti stroked a double to score Don Wescott who had walked. Chureta had hurled blanks at Bushkill over the first eight frames until the fateful ninth.

In the meantime, the Gilbert

had a strong hitting attack behind the pitching of Bob Gibson and rookie Ron Taylor.

The Cards, stretching their winning string to five games, had lost three doubleheaders this year and split nine.

Gibson helped himself in the opener with a 1-run run and a single that set up another run.

Ken Boyer's two-run homer, his fourth in as many days and his

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals posted their first doubleheader sweep of the season Monday, beating Pittsburgh 6-1 and 6-2 with a strong hitting attack behind the pitching of Bob Gibson and rookie Ron Taylor.

The Cards, stretching their winning string to five games, had lost three doubleheaders this year and split nine.

Gibson helped himself in the opener with a 1-run run and a single that set up another run.

BOSTON (AP) — Right-hander Bill Monbouquette became a 19-game winner and rookie Bob Heffner captured his fourth victory in pitching Boston to a Labor Day doubleheader sweep over Baltimore, 4-3 and 2-0 Monday.

Monbouquette, the first Red Sox pitcher to win 19 since Tom Breitner turned the trick in 1956, got help from reliever Dick Radatz's two-run triple.

Heffner scattered five hits in the second game while Bob Tillman and Dick Stuart singled across runs against loser Dave McNally.

Gary Player Triumphs In Golf Classic

WAUKESHA, Ill. (AP) — Gary Player, unflustered by high wind whipping the Glen Flora course, slammed a final 69 for a 36-hole total of 4-under-par 136 to defeat Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer in the $30,000 Holiday Golf Classic Monday.

Player, tied with Palmer after the opening round Sunday with 67 while Nicklaus had 68, finished with 36-33-69. Nicklaus, the PGA and Masters champion, carded 34-36-70 for 138. Leading money winner Palmer soared to 36-38-74 for 141.

The compact South African star pocketed a first prize of $20,000. Nicklaus collected $16,000 and Palmer $14,000.

The Axe II Staves Off B. Major In Lindheimer

CHICAGO (AP) — Green-tree Staves' The Axe II barely staved off B. Major in capturing the $11,450 Lindheimer Handicap over 1 1/2 miles on the grass at Arlington Park Monday.

The Axe II, cleverly ridden by Johnny Rotz, lagged well behind in the long grind over the turf and made his move coming into the home stretch to win by a head. The 5-year-old gray son of Mahmood was hard pressed by the surprising 3-year-old, B. Major, but refused to quit in the hot drive for the wire.

It was a two-horse race with Wild Card taking third and the highly-rated Hard Rock Man finishing fourth.

The top weighted The Axe II, carrying 127 pounds, went off the 8-5 favorite and returned $4.50, $3.80 and $3.00 to his backers in the Labor Day crowd of 32,804.

The Axe II got a winner's share of $66,450 for his owners, John Hay Whitney and his sister, Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson of New York City.

Kelso Stakes Victor

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobemis Stable's Kelso, smooth as clockwork, overpowered the opposition as usual Monday, drawing off in the stretch with authority to capture the $110,600 Aqueduct Stakes before a record crowd of 71,675 at Aqueduct.

Carrying top weight of 134 pounds, the three-time Horse of The Year swept home a 5½ length winner over Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan in the field of eight.

Crimson Satan, who came from last place with a big rush in the Preakness, pulled up lame, favoring his left front leg.

Israel Valenzuela rode Kelso, the odds-on choice of the largest crowd ever to see a race in New York, as the champion covered the 1½ miles in 1:49 4/5 on a fast track. The record is 1:48 1/5 set a year ago by Cleada, who was retired last Friday, but she carried a good deal less weight when she did it.

Tex C. Ellsworth's Candy Spots, the only 3-year-old in the race and the year's top money winning horse, was fourth, nosed out by Garvol.

Q. I absolutely agree with your statement that "the real measure of true growth (of a stock) is a steady rise in earnings per common share." Would you go so far as to say that a company that pays cash dividends admits that it has no use for the dividend money for growth purposes?

I believe that a person who has an income and does not need dividends to live or company should not be paying good growth in earnings per share.

A. Your theory is sound. But, in practice, things don't quite work that way.

Surely a person who does not need dividend income is wise to invest in a "growth stock"—stock which shows sizable and steady increases in earnings per share.

A company which pays out none of its earnings (profits) as dividends can put that money back to work (plop it back, as they say in Wall Street) to earn more money. That, if done wisely, can increase the growth in earnings even faster.

And the faster and higher earnings go, the more valuable a stock becomes. Investors are naturally attracted to a stock that shows growth in earnings per share.

However, most investors also like to get dividends. So, to keep stockholders happy, directors of a company normally pay out some of the earnings in dividends. Dividend payments are hardly an admission that the company has no use for the cash involved. Stocks which have records of not only good increases in earnings per share but also increases in dividend payments are usually the stocks which show the best rises in market prices. And an increase in market price is the result of growth.

Q. Of all the things I don't understand about finance, the "price-earnings ratio" leads the list. I have watched two stocks. Both are expected to show good increases in earnings per share this year. But one is trading at about 35 times earnings; the other at only five times earnings. Is there a rational explanation for this?

A. You're modest. You know a whole lot more about price-earnings ratios than many, perhaps most, people who write to this column. For their benefit, we had better explain that the price-earnings ratio is the relationship between the market price of a stock and the earnings of that stock.

For instance, let's say that XYZ Corp. reported profits equal to $1

The national economy needs both production and distribution for efficient operation; advertising is the cheapest means of obtaining maximum distribution.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is one more than the number in the checked figure, it is less than 6. Add the result to your number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

APRIL 21 to MAY 20 (Taurus) — You can more than make up for past negligence now by putting forth just a little more effort and diligence into your affairs. Of course, the good ideas you can; they will be favorably received.

MAY 21 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Take care of your business in order, ignoring others' suggestions in which could hold your work back or delay results. Curb emotionalism, don't scatter your efforts.

JUNE 22 to JULY 22 (Cancer) — Smiling the way for others gives them a far better impression. This should be easy for you since you are no miser with sympathy or kind words. You may find it less easy to take them, but never mind, try your best to be philosophical.

JULY 23 to AUGUST 22 (Leo) — You will still be most inclined to start what should be given plenty of time, and counting too much on others. You are likely, inclinations now, to become a strong and good manager and self-reliance.

AUGUST 23 to SEPTEMBER 22 (Virgo) — You are on unlike underhanded maneuvers, but should be most open with persons. "The verge" of initiating such tactics do all in your power to keep them from the devils path. Your straight for wardness is needed now, and a straight line is needed.

SEPTEMBER 23 to OCTOBER 22 (Scorpio) — Be realistic about your affairs. Don't spend too much time on some matters and too little with others to the detriment of your general program. Gains indicated instead of losses.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Be careful not to overdo your ambitions if you want to succeed. Small matters may tend to mount, seem to get out of hand. Sit down calmly and talk things out with your friends.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Secretaries, homeowners, students, salespersons, writers, travelers, do not neglect details; do avoid hasty conclusions and decisions. For all: try to find a new way to do things.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Neither press too heavily on your own side, nor, on the other hand, yield to the pressure when things don't go right. Set a middle-of-the-road pace, and follow it.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Your intuition and generally intelligent judgment in matters you understand are in full flower in tight spots now. Give special care to all obligations.

MARCH 21 to APRIL 19 (Aries) — You have a wealth of personality; like things to work out artistically, harmoniously, and will work hard. At times you will set your own traps, however, and frustrate lifetimes ambitions. But over the years your credulity and your own feelings for you could be a liability. Your chastity, discriminating taste, refinement and good manners are outstanding. Birthdate: Sarah Jewett, novelist.

It's trading at 35 times earnings.

Now, 35 times earnings is a high price-earnings ratio. It indicates that buyers and sellers of the stock feel that the stock's earnings are going to show big increases.

And five times earnings is a low price-earnings ratio, indicating the feeling that earnings aren't going to increase.

You say that both of the stocks you talk about are expected to show good increases in earnings.

Maybe so. But you can be sure that the stock selling at 35 times earnings has attracted popularity by demonstrating past ability to lift its earnings per share and is counted as being able to continue to do so in the future.

And the one selling at five times earnings may lift its earnings this one year. But has it done so in the past? Will it continue to do so in the future? The general opinion of buyers and sellers seems to be "no."

TWINS, BUT NOT IDENTICAL

We can't even tell them apart by looking. But there is one vital difference. The all new Mercedes-Benz 190 sedan on top is powered by a gasoline engine. Below, the 190 D sedan is powered by a diesel engine. Both are the last word in luxury with exceptional economy and very low maintenance. You have a choice of gasoline power or the unrivaled economy of a diesel engine.

Two Lost Brothers Found In Tobyhanna State Park

TOBYHANNA — Two young brothers lost in dense woods of Tobyhanna State Park since Sunday afternoon were found yesterday by a search team.

More than 100 volunteers had combed the rocky and wooded terrain all night looking for Arthur Leisey, three, and his brother, Franklin, five, of Sewell, N. J.

E. S. Radcliffe, park superintendent, said the boys were found "wide awake and bawling" in a wooded area about half a mile east of the Tobyhanna-Gouldsboro road.

They wandered away from their campsite area between 1 and 3 p.m. Sunday, dressed only in tee shirts, trousers and cowboy boots. The temperatures in this Pocono resort area dropped to 40 degrees during the night, but both were reported in "very good" condition by state police.

Radcliffe said the youngsters mostly "cried and then slept a little." He said they had nothing to eat and one complained he had not even had a drink of water. "They still had a little walking left in them though," Radcliffe added.

The superintendent said the point where the boys were found was about two miles from the camping area in the 40,000 acre park. Much of their route, he said, was fringed with bogs, swamps and small lakes and can be dangerous.

"We were very lucky and they were very lucky," Radcliffe said. He said he hoped this would serve as an object lesson to others who bring children to the park.

The youngsters, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Leisey, live at 12 Willingboro Road in Buckingham Village section of Sewell. The father is self-employed in the field of closed circuit and color television.

Volunteer firemen, citizens and a team from the army depot at Tobyhanna took part in the search.
